FERNANDO+MARCELO BENGOCHEA

NEW WOVEN PHOTOGRAPHS

Internationally acclaimed photographer Fernando Bengoechea lost his life when he was swept to sea by the massive tsunami that hit the Indian Ocean in 2004. His art, however, is very much alive.

His brother, designer Marcelo Bengoechea revives Fernando's work by hand weaving limited editions of some of his memorable photographs.

NEW WOVEN PHOTOGRAPHS

These limited edition woven photographs are being offered for the first time since Fernando's death in 2004. New images will become available as time permits.

Maintaining the highest standards in quality and craftsmanship established by Fernando, we continue his legacy using the finest materials available and as environmentally friendly as possible.

Product Description

The woven photographs are made from two museum quality archival Giclee prints. The prints are hand cut in strips of approximately 3/16 of an inch and hand woven together adding texture and relief. The woven image is then framed "floated" within rich Peruvian Walnut wood on acid free backer and mat achieving the three dimensional look that made Fernando's art so intriguing.

Each piece is completely hand made. From the cutting to the weaving to the framing, differences are noticeable and desirable. Nuances in color, weaving and alignment make each woven a one of a kind.

Final art includes a certificate of authenticity, signed and numbered by the artist.

"I remember watching my brother weave those photos and thinking that he was insane... well, here I am, feeling his energy pass through my hands as I weave and thinking this is crazy..."
